part of the French press to involve the kingdom of Belgium in the great quarrel between France and Prussia. It has been stated by the Paris Coastitutionnel that it was the Countess of Flanders, sister-in-haw of King Leopold of Belgium, and sister of Prince Leopold of Hohenzollern, that persuaded the inter to accept the crown which Juan Prim offered to him. Even if the lady in question had Leopold of Hohenzollern, that persuaded the latter to accept the crown which Juan Prim offered to him. Even if the lady in question had played the part of which the French jurnals accuse her, it would seem preposterous to hold the Government of her royal brother-in-law responsible for what she has done, were it not a well-known fact that the Countess, who is as ambitious and intelligent as she is beautiful, has, ever since her arrival in Belgium, devoted a great deal of her time to political affairs, and on many accusions decided the course to be followed by the Minister of Foreign Affairs. He posal of the belligerents; is, moreover, himself a German borth, and, personally, we have n toubt whatever would be averse taking any part in the great contes But his subjects, who, as the cal-dispatches have told us, are no already in a high state of excitement will not allow him to pursue that line of policy. They will, or the contrary, force him immediately to take sides with France, in the hope of obtaining again possessic of Schleswig-Holstein, which the lost six years ago through their foll and insolence. The Danes are as he blooded, as proud and reckless as the French, and they will rush into the midst of the fray regardless of consequences. The Swedes and Norwegians will be somewhat more cautious in this respect, but, in the event of rapid and important processes of the French army and navy, their Government will probably follow the example set

As for England, It is no longer the England of William Pitt, George Can-ning and Lord Palmerston. And now let us examine the military and naval strength of the various nations in Europe, few of which, if the great struggle should not be as rapidly decided as the campaign of things right, and among them a recovery the great struggle should not be as rapidly decided as the campaign of 1866 was, would be able to keep out of it.

In the first place, the army of the North-German Confederation consists of twelve army corps. Its Commander-In-Chief is old King William the First of Prussia himself. He may be a very poor general, but the fact that he is at the head of the army prevents his subordinate generals from gratifying those petty icalousies which have so often proved the bane of great armies operating in the field, ite sides, he has by his side men of great cineral von Moltke, his Chief of Staff General von Room, the Minister of the contract of the stage option of the stage option of the stage option of the stage option of the stage of the Arreal will prepare mentions of the sides, he has by his side men of stering ability, such as the Illustrious tieneral von Moltke, his Chief of Staff General von Room, the Minister of the stage of the stage of the war, will be and the war, will be and the stage of the stage of the war, will be and the war, will be and the war, will be and the stage of the stage of the war, will be and the war will be and the war was no disposition to sell under the category in the subject of the stage was no disposition to sell under the category. Besides, the Austrian Government is well aware of the fact that in case it should draw speadons of cavalry, one thousand the sward for France, Rusia would do likewise for Prassia. The later view which the Czar Alexander the Second of Russia and King William the First of Prussia held at Ems, a few weeks since, must have led to important results, and there is reason to believe that it united more closely the bonds of friends in the countries of the two sovereigns in question have been joined together for so many years past. As soon as the Austrian troops, to come to the assistance of their French allies, invade Silesia, the Czar will march his hosts into Galicia, and cell numbered and introvers the landwehr, will march his hosts into Galicia, and cell numbered and nineral property says as the property of the control of the week. To arrive at the amount of what is classed as Kentucky or Bourbon whisky, we must take another account. There was made in Louisville this year about 10,000 maie in Louisville this year about 10,000 harrels of highwines or spirits, which went into market just as highwines did, and in the Sixth and Seventh Districts about as much more. Highwines were made last year in Louisville, as well as this year, but none were made last year in either the Sixth or Seventh Districts. In comparing the Kennicky whosky product of this year with last, it is proper duct of this year with last, it is proper then to deduct from the total of this year 10,000 barrels made in the two districts last named—equivalent to 450,000 proof gallons—in order to get at the true day, and no changes of note were reported. The domand for exchange is active, and the selling rates are firm at '4 premium. There is nothing offering except an occasional small cotton bill, which is taken at par. The demand for money is unabated.

In Stocks and Bonds we could learn of no transactions. Three hundred shares of M. & C. R. R. stock is on the market at 40c, and City Bonds are in demand at 47%c.

Local scrips and Tennessee money are suited and unchanged.
